

CyComP 2010 Programme

8.30	Registration
9.00	Opening Address (Deane Lecture Theatre): Professor Rob Campbell, Director of Research, University of Bolton.
9.15	Keynote speaker: Dr. Mark Brosnan, University of Bath. (Author of Technophobia: The psychological impact of information technology). From technophobia to technophilia
Individual Papers
	Stream 1: Individual Differences Boardroom. Chairs: J Charlton, R Jagger & L Mackie	Stream 2: Cyberpsychology Room D2-028. Chairs: P Rogers, M Grimshaw & D Abdel Nabi
10.10	B.R. Cowan, University of Edinburgh. The effect of editing identity on anxiety during Wiki editing.	S. Malik & N.S. Coulson, University of Nottingham. An exploratory study of perceived disadvantages to accessing online infertility support communities.
10.30	T. Nomura & K. Kishimoto, Ryukoku University. Measurement of internet anxiety: from surveys in Japan.	A. Krotoski, University of Surrey. Network predictors of cyberbalkanisation: structure and position as indicators of perceived attitudes within an online community.
10.50	Coffee & Posters (The Atrium and Reception)
11.10	M. Di Renzo Buckley, University College Cork. In search of a common language: Identity construction in online communication with people with a diagnosis of Asperger's Syndrome and high functioning autism	J. Gavin, M. Brosnan, R. Joiner & J. Doodson, University of Bath. The development and evaluation of teaching Cyberpsychology in Second Life.

11.30	N. Curran, University College Cork. Immersion and levels of involvement in online games.	S. Bignell, University of Derby. Technology enriched problem-based learning in a 3D multi-user virtual world.
11.50	M. Joyce, University College Cork. A renewed methodology for the measurement of internet attitudes and internet self-efficacy.	D. Abdel Nabi, University of Bolton. Show & Tell for the Point & Click Generation
12.10	Lunch (The Atrium)
	Stream 1: Individual Differences Boardroom	Stream 2: Cyberpsychology Room D2-028
13.30	V. Ivanova, Polish Academy of Sciences. 'Internet addiction': The debate in relation to the problem.	E. Griffin, University College Cork Language use and impression formation in Computer-Mediated Communication: An exploratory case-study.
13.50	P. Soh Chin Hooi, Multimedia University, Malaysia, J. P. Charlton, University of Bolton, C. Kok Wai, Multimedia University, Malaysia, & A. Peng Hwa, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore. Parents and peers influences on Internet usage and addiction in Malaysia.	M.D. Kozlov & M.K. Johansen, University of Cardiff. Classic factors influencing real world social interactions manipulated in the affordable VR of a computer game.
14.10	F. Karlsen, The Norwegian School of Information Technology. Excessive playing and the context of the player.	P. Rogers, University of Bolton. The breadth & depth of relationship development in Second Life.
14.30	E. Collins, Goldsmiths College, University of London. Personality and Massively Multiplayer Role Playing Games use and dependence.	R. Comber, University College Cork. Closeness in SNSs: a paradox in strong tie relationships
14.50	Coffee & Posters (The Atrium and Reception)

15.15	Keynote speaker (Deane Lecture Theatre): Dr. Monica Whitty, Nottingham Trent University (Co-author of Truth, lies and trust on the Internet). Morals and taboos in cyberspace: Do we play by the same rules?
16.00	Question & Answer session (Boardroom): In this session Dr. Aleks Krotoski (University of Surrey) will answer questions on topics connected with The Virtual Revolution television series which she recently presented on BBC2.
16.45	Conference close