The University of Bolton Library is a member of many regional and national schemes that allow our students and staff to use the facilities of other university libraries in the UK.

These schemes offer different levels of access, so please visit the Library Desk where staff can advise you or consult the Library web pages at http://www.bolton.ac.uk/library/Borrowing/Access-Agreements.aspx in order to ensure you are using the most appropriate scheme.

Please be aware of the following:

- only users who are in good standing with the Library can join these schemes. If you have outstanding fines, overdue books or invoices you will not be allowed to use other university libraries.

- different classification schemes, catalogue interfaces, etc. may be used at other institutions. Other libraries are not required to provide any training in the use of their library services.

- users are expected to observe relevant regulations that apply to studying in other libraries and are responsible for any fines or replacement costs incurred.

- your card can be withdrawn if you infringe the rules of the host library.

- always check opening hours and facilities before visiting the libraries. Many universities conduct building/maintenance work during vacations, so you may be unable to visit them. Also services may be limited at weekends.

- check local requirements before you visit. Some libraries may require a photograph or may not be able to process your application outside of normal office hours.

You must take your University of Bolton ID card and relevant documentation with you when you visit.

* not the Eddie Davies Library

All staff and students can use these libraries for reference purposes. Some users may borrow from these libraries via the SCONUL Access scheme.

SCONUL Access scheme

The University of Bolton Library is a member of the national SCONUL Access scheme which allows part-time, distance or placement students (on a placement of ten weeks or more), full-time taught postgraduate students, permanent members of staff and postgraduate research students the opportunity to register with and borrow from other institutions' libraries.

Full-time undergraduates are entitled only to reference access under this scheme.

Most university and some specialist libraries participate in the scheme, but please be aware that some libraries will only permit access to certain types of users. Check the SCONUL Access website http://www.sconul.ac.uk/sconul-access to ascertain whether you are able to use the facilities of another institution.

You apply online to use the scheme via the SCONUL Access website.

SCONUL Vacation Access Scheme

You may use most university libraries for reference only during their vacations as part of the SCONUL Vacation Access Agreement. Access should be granted with your University of Bolton ID card.
However, as this card has no expiry date,
you may also be required to show proof of current employment or evidence of when your course ends.

Public libraries

In addition to the schemes outlined above,
you are also entitled to join the public library in the borough in which you live.

Some libraries participate in a universal access scheme whereby your library card
can be used to borrow from other public libraries. Please enquire about this scheme at your local public library.
