At the University of Bolton, we are proud to put our students and their needs first - it's what we're all about. We know what it takes to provide a university experience that students love and that prepares them for employment; that's why we've been ranked 1st in the North West for Student Satisfaction for the past 5 years by The Complete University Guide.

Following a period of sustained growth in student applications and enrolments we have embarked on the next step of our development to ensure that our marketing and recruitment activities continue to deliver growth and continuous improvement.

The Faculty Recruitment Managers are senior roles within the division with overall responsibility and accountability for recruitment targets across their faculty. You will set the faculty recruitment strategy and plans and ensure they are delivered effectively, working closely with the respective Dean, Heads of School and Programme Leaders.

You will be a proactive, target-driven professional, ideally with management experience within higher education marketing or recruitment, however, your drive and tenacity for stakeholder management and communications, marketing or sales are more important. Similarly, if you are already working in student recruitment and ready for management experience then we'd like to hear from you. For an informal discussion about the role please contact:
