

Chief Executive – Alliance Learning

Alliance Learning is an independent training provider based in Bolton, Greater Manchester delivering apprenticeships and commercial training. It is part of the University of Bolton Group.

We are now seeking a new Chief Executive to provide strategic leadership and take the business to the next level in its evolution.

The role is a broad and all-encompassing one, requiring significant leadership and management skills. Although this role does not necessitate experience in the independent training provider sector, it requires a leader who has successfully delivered transformational change and growth in the education sector along with a record of delivering strategic goals and objectives.

The successful candidate will also demonstrate outstanding communication skills, with the ability to present engagingly to a full range of external stakeholders. Alongside this, they will bring a comprehensive understanding of the changing education landscape.

This fantastic role offers a competitive salary level and a rare opportunity for a passionate leader to make a real difference to ambitious provider of education and training in the Greater Manchester area.

The closing date is Monday 6 June 2022 @ 5.00pm

Alliance Learning is committed to equality, diversity, and inclusion in all our activities, and we invite candidates from under-represented groups to consider applying for this opportunity.
