The University of Bolton is a “Teaching Intensive, Research Informed” higher education institution whose distinctive high quality, student-focussed, undergraduate and postgraduate programmes attract students from all over the world.

Due to growth in student numbers we are looking to appoint an ambitious academic who will deliver excellent teaching and student support across the area of Psychology, Psychotherapy and Counselling.

Our staff are at the heart of everything we do: they are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuous professional development. Staff pride themselves on being outstanding professionals that provide excellent learning, teaching and applied research and support in the provision of custom-designed, industry led courses in numerous subject areas.

We are looking to recruit to a full-time post at associate lecturer or lecturer level. The duties of the post holder will be in line with the relevant job role and person specification requirements. We fully support the need for practitioners to remain active in their counselling work and this can be negotiated within the role. We are also happy to consider appointments on a fractional basis for those wishing to retain a practice role and to apply for this role as a fractional request.

In addition to being able to teach across core areas of psychology at undergraduate and postgraduate levels, we welcome applications from:

-Candidates who are members of the BACP either accredited or working towards accreditation and are currently in supervised counselling practise/ HCPC registered/ BPS Chartered Counselling Psychologist.
