The University of Bolton is a “Teaching Intensive, Research Informed” higher education institution whose distinctive high quality, student-focussed, undergraduate and postgraduate programmes attract students from all over the world.

Our staff are at the heart of everything we do: they are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuous professional development. Staff pride themselves on being outstanding professionals that provide excellent learning, teaching and applied research and support in the provision of custom-designed, industry led courses in numerous subject areas.

The School of Arts and Creative Technologies is looking for an experienced Photographer, with a strong creative industries profile, who can demonstrate a depth of knowledge and understanding of current trends in photographic practice.

A current industry record and demonstrable working knowledge of processes and technologies relevant to the field of Photography is highly desirable. However, candidates with experience in delivering either practical or critical curriculum components would be considered. We would welcome interest from practicing professionals who would like to apply for this role and consideration will be given to appointable candidates who may be interested in either a full or a part-time role.

Applicants for this role should hold an Undergraduate and Master’s degree in a relevant discipline or equivalent.
Ideally, the successful candidate will have completed a PhD/MPhil/Professional Doctorate in a related area or be willing to be supported to achieve this. You will also need a teaching qualification or equivalent (or willingness to achieve this).
