The University of Bolton is a “Teaching Intensive, Research Informed” higher education institution whose distinctive high quality, student-focussed, undergraduate and postgraduate programmes attract students from all over the world.

Our staff are at the heart of everything we do: they are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuous professional development. Staff pride themselves on being outstanding professionals that provide excellent learning, teaching and applied research and support in the provision of custom-designed, industry led courses in numerous subject areas.

The key duties of the role holder will be to contribute to the teaching and delivery of the Operating Department Practitioner programme, undergraduate and taught postgraduate nursing and related programmes, including the academic and personal support of students. In addition, to contribute to the student recruitment and admissions of the Operating Department Practitioner Programme.

HCPC and/or NMC registration is an essential requirement for these roles along with a first degree and preferably a teaching qualification. We are particularly interested in candidates with contemporary experience in Theatre, anaesthetics and scrubs (experience in recovery would be desirable). A commitment to undertaking a PhD and membership of the Higher Education Academy is an essential requirement of the roles.

Successful candidates should demonstrate a practical awareness of current developments in Nursing Education as well as being able to facilitate the creation and maintenance of a range of links between courses and the Nursing sector.
