Tim Woodward, Associate Lecturer, School of Law....

“As part of your studies on the BA (Hons) in Crime and Criminal Justice the teaching team would like to offer you the opportunity to embed the classroom into reality by purchasing one of our many enrichment trips.

As such, there are a range of options available for you. Enrichment trips are available to Krakow, Poland to discover the impact of Human Rights abuse and to discuss issues surrounding Ethics, Morality, Prejudice and Discrimination by visiting the Holocaust memorial of Auschwitz and Birkenau. In addition, the trip to Athens will allow you to discover and explore the seat of Civilization, Parliament, Democracy and Law and Order. This year’s enrichment trip involves students flying out to the United States and visiting New York where they will visit the United Nations, attend the 9/11 memorial and stand on Ellis Island the entrance to the New World, to discuss issues surrounding immigration and emigration and how that impacted upon the Global Stage.

Should you decide to join us then the benefits of enrichment within our courses will be evident and available for you to take full advantage of. “
