The University of Bolton is a “Teaching Intensive, Research Informed” higher education institution whose distinctive high quality, student-focussed, undergraduate and postgraduate programmes attract students from all over the world.

Our staff are at the heart of everything we do: they are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuous professional development. Staff pride themselves on being outstanding professionals that provide excellent learning, teaching and applied research and support in the provision of custom-designed, industry led courses in numerous subject areas.

The successful candidate will be a qualified solicitor with a current SRA Practising Certificate or a barrister having completed the BPTC and be capable of teaching on a range of courses (including Pro Bono, SQE (Solicitor Qualifying Examination) modules and other undergraduate foundation law modules).

This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic legal professional seeking to continue to undertake high level professional practice alongside their academic responsibilities. The successful candidate will also co-lead Pro Bono activity within the School and take responsibility for maintaining and cultivating links with the legal sector in support of our student employability agenda.

The University will provide appropriate support to ensure the role holder can continue with high level professional practice or subject specific research which directly informs teaching.

The University will meet the annual cost of the successful candidate’s SRA Practising Certificate or other associated membership fees.
