The Speakers

Jon Guy

The Secretary General of the Islamic Insurance Association of London

The Association was formed as part of the UK government's efforts to create a global centre for the provision of Islamic financial services in London. As such his role is to engage with government, regulators, and the wider market to explore how London can work with its peers to drive professionalism, product development and regulatory standards.

Jon has been a Journalist for 30 years and spent ten years working on a variety of UK national newspapers...
