

FACULTY OF HEALTH & WELLBEING

TEF Silver Teaching Excellence Framework

We have a long standing and excellent reputation among external stakeholders and collaborative partners for our high-quality and vocational teaching and research.

Focussing on areas including nursing, midwifery, mental health, child nursing, physiotherapy, paramedic science, advanced clinical practice, physician associate, youth and community work, health and social care, social work and dental sciences, our new innovative courses benefit from strong links to the National Health Service, professional bodies, industry partners and community groups. By collaborating with employers and governing organisations we ensure our courses are directly relevant to professional practice.

Our academic staff are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuing professional development. We also work with educational establishments around the UK, supporting them in the provision of custom-designed, industry-led courses in the health and human sciences areas.

Due to the growth of the Faculty, we are looking to invite applications from those interested in various roles that will enable the Faculty to expand and continue our excellent student provision whilst supporting the University's ambitious agenda as a "teaching intensive, research informed" University.

We are welcoming applications from those interested in full-time, part-time, permanent, temporary and/or variable-hours teaching opportunities to support the Faculty's ambitious enhancement agenda and maintain our excellent reputation for teaching excellence, student satisfaction and helped make us the University of the Year for Greater Manchester.
