Internal Candidates only

An opportunity has arisen for a temporary Senior Lecturer position in the Research & Graduate School to provide maternity cover for the current post holder.
This would be for 12 months (or the return of the substantive role holder, whichever is the earlier date) commencing in mid-January 2021.

The role outline is as follows;

- To lead and teach on researcher development programmes and the taught postgraduate Career Development Masters (CDM) suite of programmes, leading as appropriate in dedicated areas.
- To undertake research and scholarly activity in a subject area of the University to contribute to the development of new areas in their subject field as well as publishing in a REF UoA related to that subject.
- To be responsible for leadership and delivery of teaching, assessment, curriculum development across the range of activities within RGS that support the researcher community and PGT students.
