Foreword by the Vice Chancellor

Professor George E Holmes DL DSc

I am delighted to be able to welcome you to the 2022 Graduation ceremonies, following two of the most challenging years in living memory.

These 2022 ceremonies are particularly special, as they are the first since 2019 to be held in a more traditional way, as they were before the pandemic that impacted everyone's lives. You have spent the majority of your studies having to face the seemingly never-ending storm of Covid-19 and its potential effects on both your physical and mental health. I would like to place on record how immensely proud I am that you have not only faced these challenges, but have weathered them to be here this week celebrating your enormous achievements. During the past two years, you have embraced new methods of teaching, as well as restrictions on activities that we would all have taken for granted before Covid struck.

The pandemic has highlighted, once again, that the University of Bolton is proud to put our students at the heart of everything we do.

From the outset, back in February 2020, we committed to making our campus as Covid-secure as possible. We were determined to ensure there was as much face-to-face teaching on campus as possible, in accordance with Government guidelines.

We invested in a wide range of measures and provided pastoral and financial support, as well as hot meals and food packages for students isolated during the various lockdowns. Our determination to put you, our students, first has once again been recognised in the Complete University Guide 2022 as best in the whole of the North West of England for student satisfaction, and joint seventh in the UK. I am also pleased to report that the University of Bolton is named 46th in The Guardian Newspaper's guide of the best UK universities 2022.

The quality of our teaching has remained at an extremely high level and your tutors have worked tremendously hard to support you. The University has ambitious plans for the future; these are very exciting times. Building work will shortly begin on the state of the art Bolton College of Medical Sciences (BCMS) in the grounds of the Royal Bolton Hospital, a pioneering joint partnership between the University of Bolton Group, Bolton NHS Foundation Trust and Bolton Council. This vocational and professional skills and training facility will transform how the NHS and social care workforces are trained in the UK, producing a new generation of health and social care professionals at a time when they have never been needed more.

When it opens next year, it will give people a direct route into health and social care employment, and provide unrivalled training opportunities for existing hospital staff to upskill and further their careers.

It is an historic moment for our town and for the University. It takes the University to a whole new level in terms of training in medicine. It will be able to teach 3,000 students a year, with around 1,000 apprentices in a range of health and social care roles.

We are also in the early stages of developing a new School of Medicine as part of the University's focus on supporting the health and medical sector, to help create the strongest, most effective workforce possible for the future.

The value of a degree has never been as important in terms of being a real investment in your personal future. That is why I would urge you to consider investing even further by taking a postgraduate qualification at Master's and Doctoral level. The competition for jobs is ever more intense in our rapidly changing world, with emerging technologies and new sectors moving to the fore.

A postgraduate qualification will undoubtedly give you an advantage over others in the labour market and make you a more attractive prospect to potential employers.

Finally, I would like to wish you all the best in the years to come and hope that you will retain fond memories of your time at the University of Bolton during an extraordinary and challenging period in the world's history.

Thank you for displaying the qualities that will stand you in good stead for the future, both personally and professionally: resilience, determination, hard work and positivity.

Everyone at the University of Bolton is incredibly proud that you are able to celebrate this week; we wish you a lifetime of health, happiness and success.

My heartfelt best wishes to all of you,
Professor George E Holmes DL DSc

The Chancellor, Earl of St Andrews

George Philip Nicholas Windsor, Earl of St Andrews, is the eldest son of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Kent. He was educated at Eton College where he was a King's Scholar and at Downing College, University of Cambridge, where he gained an MA in History.

After a period in HM Diplomatic Service during which he served in New York (at the UK Mission to the UN) and Budapest, he worked for a number of years in the antiquarian book business, including at Christies UK. He has also been chair of an internet-based world history project, the Golden Web.

His interest in cultural diversity and building bridges between civilisations is mirrored within the University and in particular represented by the Centre for Islamic Finance. The Centre's exceptional lecture series has in itself given testament to the sharing of ideas across cultures. The Earl has been associated with the University through the Centre for Islamic Finance for some time now and his impact has been greatly valued.

The Earl is a patron, chair or trustee and member of the following organisations: the Great Britain Sasakawa Foundation, SOS Children's Village, Worldwide Cancer Research (formerly the Association for International Cancer Research), the Princess Margarita of Romania Foundation, the Welsh Sinfonia, the Next Century Foundation, the Mongolia and Inner Asia Studies Unit at the University of Cambridge and the Global eHealth Foundation.

We are proud to have the Earl of St Andrews as the Chancellor of our University.

Pro Chancellor, Dr Brett Warburton

MBA DSc (hc)

The Pro Chancellor, Brett Warburton, is the Executive Director of Britain's biggest bakery brand, Warburtons. At his installation ceremony he was also awarded an Honorary Doctor of Sciences in recognition of his outstanding contribution to food science research. He was presented as Pro Chancellor by The Baroness Morris of Bolton OBE DL DPhil LLD (hc), the first Chancellor of the University of Bolton.

After graduating from university, Brett gained experience in the British food and bakery industry before completing his MBA at Harvard Business School. His passion for business and people saw Brett focus on operations, joining the business as General Manager of the bread division before becoming Managing Director. Now Executive Director, Brett remains focused on the operations side of the business, from the wheat it buys to the people who bake the products every day. Brett was awarded an Honorary Doctorate from the University of Kent in 2009.

The brand has grown under the stewardship of the Warburton cousins, but the passion for baking the best quality products has always been at the heart of its business. They take a long-term, sustainable approach to growth to ensure they can pass the business to the sixth generation in the best shape possible. They believe investing back into the business, through innovation, technology and people, while never compromising on the quality is key to their success.

Warburtons headquarters are still in Bolton and they have 11 bakeries and 18 depots across the UK, meaning you're never more than 100 miles away from a site. They bake two million of their famous wax-wrapped loaves, thins, wraps, crumpets, pancakes and bread rolls every day.

Pro Chancellor, The Right Reverend Nigel McCulloch

KCVO

Pro Chancellor Nigel Simeon McCulloch was educated at Liverpool College, studied theology at Selwyn College, Cambridge and trained for the priesthood at Cuddesdon College, Oxford. Ordained in Chester Cathedral in 1966, his early ministry included curacy in Ellesmere Port, the role of chaplain and Director of Studies in Theology at Christ's College, Cambridge, Diocesan Missioner in the Diocese of Norwich and Archdeacon and Rector in the Diocese of Salisbury.

In 1986 Nigel was appointed suffragan Bishop of Taunton, and successively Bishop of Wakefield and Bishop of Manchester. From 1997 to 2012 Bishop Nigel was Lord High Almoner to Her Majesty The Queen and in 2013 became the first Bishop of Manchester to be honoured with a knighthood when he was invested by the Queen with the insignia of a Knight Commander of the Victorian Order (KCVO). In addition, from 2002, Bishop Nigel was for many years National Chaplain to the Royal British Legion. In 2008 Bishop Nigel's wife, Celia, was ordained by him at Manchester Cathedral.

Bishop Nigel's commitment to education, equality and understanding has been evident through the many appointments he has undertaken. At different stages in his ministry, he has been a governor of several schools and colleges including six and a half years as a governor of Huddersfield University. He was National Chairman of the Council for Christians and Jews, also chairing the county's Faith Community Leaders' Group and the Greater Manchester Poverty Commission. Manchester City Council and the Lesbian Gay Foundation awarded Bishop Nigel with the 2013 Alan Turing Award in recognition of his efforts to combat prejudice and homophobia.

In November 2008, Bishop Nigel's governance at the University of Bolton began when he was appointed as an Independent Member of the Board. At various times he has served on the University's Audit Committee, Resources Committee, Remuneration Committee, Nominations Committee, and Ad Hoc Appointments Committee. Bishop Nigel has also served as Chair of the Board of Governors from 2013 until 2020.

On 15th February 2022, the University was proud to designate "The McCulloch Building" in commemoration of the distinguished service of Bishop Nigel. The McCulloch Building is currently home to the Institute of Management, Greater Manchester and it is entirely appropriate that this modern building, housing a highly successful department of the University, should be associated with such a dynamic and forward-thinking Bishop and Chair of Governors.

The Chair of the Board of Governors

Professor HH William Morris

MA Cantab (Hons) LLD (hc)

Professor His Honour William Morris was, until his retirement, the Resident Judge of the Crown Court in Bolton, and was appointed Honorary Recorder of Bolton by the town's local authority. William undertook his degree at Cambridge University where he studied law and fine arts. This range of studies mirrors the broad spread of his interests which include art, leading to his having an art gallery in Bolton.

His career in law led to him becoming a judge in 1995. In 2008 he received an Honorary Doctorate (Doctor of Laws) (LLD) from the University for his outstanding contribution to law. William became a trustee of St John and St Elizabeth, a private hospital in London, early in 2020. William is a long-standing Member of the Board of Governors and its sub-committees and has been Chair of the Board since February 2020.

University Regalia

New regalia for the university was dedicated and used for the first time in 1994. The mace and wands were designed and created by the late Brian Asquith who received an Honorary Fellowship in 1996.

The qualities and ideas expressed in the mace are of growth, development, the future, progression, flowering, technology, nature and metamorphosis.

The mace represents the traditional link with industrial Bolton, a shuttle to the future, an uplifting, developing mental theme; the idea of the seed, its progression to flowering which is associated with the role of an educational institution, to nurture, stimulate and encourage the development of the individual.

The boss at the head of the mace has engraved on it the Coat of Arms of the University of Bolton. The whole mace is poised at an angle on a base, giving the feeling of flight into the future.

The Chancellor and Pro Chancellor wear a medal identical to the boss at the head of the mace, also engraved with the Coat of Arms of the University of Bolton. This is a symbol of the authority and status of their office and that of the university.
